100% your app or in your app

Introducing the Qwil SDK. You can now seamlessly embed the Qwil SDK into your web portal & mobile apps with little to no development required to offer the full communication suite to your staff and clients.

Add contact books. chat, document sharing, video calling, meeting bookings and e-signature to your app securely.

Want your own branded app? A white label app powered by Qwil can also be deployed. Just ask.

Scheduling (new)

No need for back-and-forth messages or use another tool to book meetings (i.e. Calendly). Welcome Qwil Scheduler.

All it takes is a few simple clicks to go from chatting with your clients or colleagues to sending a scheduling link.

You can also add this link to your email signature, website or landing page and use your existing conferencing tools

Google and Microsoft 365 calendars integration for real time availability, meaning the person scheduling a meeting with you will only be able to select times when you're free.

Federation across your company

External chat has been released enabling chats across multiple organisations within an enterprise.

You may be a network of advisers with many brands or a large institution with several standalone departments. Each one has their staff and own clients, but now staff can engage with other staff across tenancies.

Advantages? avoids channel hopping, reverting back to email, WhatsApp or other...it's all in Qwil like everything else with a full audit trail too.
